

PRAY AS YOU GO

A simple tool for praying for the people already in your life.

"I will speak to God about people before I speak to people about God."

You don't have to add one more thing to an already-full life. God has already placed you in your mission field: your home, your street, your workplace, your kids' school, the store you always stop at.

MY MISSION FIELD:

Where you live, work, and play.

MY ONE LIFE:

One person, by name, who needs Jesus.

PRAY THROUGH YOUR DAY

You don't need more time. You need the moments you already have. Pick one and start there. One is enough.

BEFORE THE DAY PICKS UP.

PRAY FIRST

Before you check your phone, take two minutes and pray for your One Life by name.

"God, use me today. And open a door for _____."

ON THE WAY.

The drop-off line and the commute can become a prayer room. Pray for people by name before you see them.

"God, go ahead of _____ today. Let them know You're near."

AT WORK.

PRAY PRACTICALLY

Pray about what's actually going on in people's lives: the crushing deadline, the strained marriage, the friend running on empty.

"God, You see what _____ is carrying. Open a door and give me the words."

OUT AND ABOUT.

The cashier. The neighbor getting their mail. The parents on the sideline at practice. You don't know their story. God does.

"God, You know exactly what they need. Meet them there."

AROUND THE TABLE.

At dinner or bedtime, let each person in your home name one person to pray for. Let your kids hear you pray for your One Life.

"God, we're asking together. Draw _____ close to You."

AT THE END OF THE DAY. PRAY PERSISTENTLY

Some prayers are answered in a week. Most are fought for over years. Don't quit. Keep praying them home.

"God, I'm not giving up on _____. Bring them home."

PRAY BOLDLY

You're not begging a distant God to maybe get involved. You're partnering with a God who is already at work. So pray like it: for healing, for open doors, for hearts to soften.

"The prayer of a righteous person is powerful and effective."

JAMES 5:16 (NIV)
